

I saw a report on the PBS Newshour last week re: consolidation, and it was disturbing that this trend is being encouraged. The argument against consolidation was strong and clearly in the public's interest, the argument for it was muddled and clearly driven by commercial interests.